

PLACE

Lethbridge Project
Photographs by Geoffrey James

March 28 – April 19, 2003

Geoffrey James who is widely acclaimed for his photographs of place, spent months tracking the prairie light while photographing a city and its prairie setting. His exquisite eye, which has established his international reputation as one of the finest contemporary photographers of our time, captures the changing seasons, fleeting conditions and many moods of a habitation and a landscape.

Please join us for a preview of a selection of photographs from the Lethbridge Project in the Promenade Gallery.

Copies of the book Place with a text by Rudy Wiebe will also be available.
