ALISON ROSSITER

EXPOSURE 2011: CALGARY BANFF CANMORE
PHOTOGRAPHY FESTIVAL

February 5th to 26th, 2011

Civilization and Its Discontents – Sigmund Freud, 2009; Photogram, unique gelatin silver print; 16" x 20"

Born in Jackson, Mississippi in 1953, Alison Rossiter is a graduate of the Rochester Institute of Technology and the Banff Centre School of Fine Arts. She has worked with the materials and processes of light sensitive, gelatin silver-based photography since 1970. Her darkroom is essential to her work process, whether it involves the traditional printing of negatives, drawing with flashlights or making photograms. She is at the forefront of a small and growing school of abstract photography.
